Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 29, 45, 61, 66, 73, 74, 77, 80, 83, 86 and 89 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hochberg in view of US Pat No 5,535,322 (Hecht), hereafter Hecht.

Claims 29, 45, 61, 66, 73, 74, 77, 80, 83, 86 and 89:

Hochberg discloses:

(A) receiving a request from the host to delete a unit of data stored on the storage system

(B) determining whether a previously-defined retention period for the unit of data has expired by performing the acts of:

(B1) retrieving first information, associated with the unit of data, that identifies a manner of accessing second information specifying the previously defined retention period; [archive program 12, Fig 1]

(B2) using the first information to retrieve the second information specifying the previously-defined retention period [retention protection setting 16, Fig 1]

(C) when it is determined in the act (B) that the retention period for the unit of data has not expired, denying the request to delete the unit of data [paragraphs 10 and 21]

Hochberg discloses the elements of the claimed invention as noted above but arguably does not disclose wherein the first information is information identifying a retention class to which the unit of data belongs, wherein the second information is a retention period associated with the retention class, and wherein the method further comprises an act of maintaining, on the at least one storage system, a record associating the retention period with the retention class [paragraph 22, 23, 29, 30]. Hecht discloses wherein the first information is information identifying a retention class to which the unit of data belongs, wherein the second information is a retention period associated with the retention class, and wherein the method further comprises an act of maintaining, on the at least one storage system, a record associating the retention period with the retention class [col 9, lines 8-41, col 13, lines 60-65, col 22, lines 57-65]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Hochberg to include above limitation(s) based on the teaching of Hecht for the purpose of managing the archiving and deletion of medical images [col 22, lines 57-65].
